Annual Report on the Oklahoma Judiciary

LETTER OF TRANSMITTAL

On behalf of the Administrative Office of the Courts, I am pleased to submit to the Legislature the Annual Report on the Oklahoma Judiciary in accordance with the provisions of 20 O.S. § 16.11. The report is made available to other state agencies, public officials, and interested persons as a service of this office.

This report covers Fiscal Year 1984. It includes narratives and statistics regarding the Oklahoma Judicial System which have been designed to afford the reader an insight into the operation of our courts.

Caution should be exercised in the interpretation of judicial statistics. Judges spend a great deal of their time counseling, researching, traveling, and performing administrative tasks. Courts in metropolitan areas face heavy and specialized caseloads. In other areas of the state, the distances involved between the places where court is held and the additional duties involved in working with multiple staffs are criteria which must be taken into account. Moreover, no two cases are exactly alike although statistically they are considered equal. These items cannot be readily shown quantitatively. All are interpretive factors, however.

Please take time to review the information contained in this report which is most applicable to your needs. Comments and suggestions are solicited.

Let me add a word of appreciation to Chief Justice Don Barnes and the members of the Oklahoma Supreme Court for the support and help given to this project. In concluding, a personal thank you is extended to Judges and Clerks across the state and the entire staff of the Administrative Office of the Courts for the effort devoted to produce a timely and relevant report of which we are very proud.

Respectfully submitted,

Charles E. Ferrell, Jr.

INTRODUCTION

The information and data contained in this report cover fiscal year 1984. Statistical data are presented on case filings, dispositions, and pending cases for the Supreme Court, the Court of Criminal Appeals, Court of Appeals, the District Courts, the Court on the Judiciary, and the Court of Tax Review. Statistical breakdowns include, the number and types of cases filed in the district courts and the method of disposition for various case classifications. The data from previous years' reports is compared to the data from fiscal year 1984. In addition, this report describes the administrative organization and financial structure of the courts. A summary of special projects and programs is also presented.

In order to enhance the uniformity of reporting the caseload count for each of the defined categories, the unit of count as defined below was employed by each district court in the state.

A unit of count is simply any entity that is the basis for monitoring and reporting statistics by a court. Although unit of count is not itself a statistical term, the units being counted determine the activity of the court during a course of a given time period.

Filings

The unit of count in a civil, domestic relations, small claims or probate case occurs when the clerk of court files a petition to initiate a given case. Each initiating document is issued a file number and is counted as one case filed. When a case has multiple defendants there is one file number assigned to the case and only one case is counted as filed. This results in a case-by-case reporting system and not a number of defendants reporting system.

The unit of count in a criminal case is when the clerk of court files an original charging document (e.g., complaint, information, or indictment in criminal or traffic cases) beginning the prosecution of a criminal case in the district court. Each charging document that is filed receives a file number. This is counted as one case filed When there are multiple defendants on a charging document, there is one file number assigned to the case and only one case counted as filed. This results in a case-by-case reporting system and not a number of defendants or charges reporting system.

Dispositions

In all cases where there are multiple defendants and the case is disposed of by the court, the unit of count is the same as when the case was originally filed. If one file number was assigned, then one case is reported as disposed of by the court.

In all cases where there are multiple defendants and the case is disposed of by the court but each defendant receives different dispositions, the unit of count is the same as when the case was originally filed; since there was one file number assigned to the case, there is one case disposed of by the court. Regardless of the number of defendants, the assigned case number controls the unit of count.

The priority for reporting a disposition in civil and domestic relations cases is as follows: jury trial, non-jury trial, dismissed/withdrawn/settled, or uncontested/default judgment. The priority for reporting a disposition in small claims cases is non-jury trial, voluntary dismissal, default judgment, or dismissed-failure to prosecute. The priority for reporting a disposition in probate cases is contested or without contest. The priority for reporting a disposition in felony and misdemeanor cases is jury trials, non-jury trials, guilty plea, bond forfeiture, or dismissal.

No matter how many separate dispositions of defendants in a multiple-defendant case, only one disposition is reported, and that is of the defendant receiving the highest priority in the manner of disposition categories.

The filing and disposition data presented should not be interpreted as a complete measure of judicial workload for each of the courts. Tabulations of filed and disposed cases do not reflect the complete workload of the court clerks or judges. The filings and dispositions should be considered as representative of the number of cases processed by a particular court and not as a total measure of its workload.

However, until such time as fully automated system of reporting can be implemented the information presented in this report will continue to be the most current and accurate available.

Legislative Year in Review

1984 LEGISLATIVE YEAR IN REVIEW

The Second Regular Session of the 39th Oklahoma Legislature involved the consideration of approximately 1350 legislative measures, many of which had a direct or indirect impact upon the judiciary. Following is a summary of significant legislative enactments that had a considerable impact upon the Oklahoma Judiciary.

SENATE MEASURES

Senate Bill 417 (by Sen. John Clifton and Rep. Robert Henry) establishes the Oklahoma Pleading Code bringing Oklahoma Civil Procedure into substantial conformity with the procedure utilized in Federal Court. Although the Oklahoma Pleading Code is patterned after the federal rules, it does vary from the federal rules where a unique federal problem is addressed or where an established Oklahoma principle of law is retained. The Code covers issuance, form and service of both summons and subpoenas, procedures for default judgment, filing of pleadings, general rules for pleading, the pretrial conference, interpleader, intervention, and class actions.

Senate Bill 433 (by Sen. Roy Boatner and Rep. Bill Widener) amends the statutes relating to licensed bail bondsmen. The act modifies the procedures and fees associated with applying for a bail bondsman's license and amends the grounds for censure, suspension, revocation and refusal to renew license. In addition, the act revises the bond forfeiture and set-aside procedures by, among other things, providing a statutory timeframe within which the bondsman's property: must be returned, may be returned within the discretion of the judge, and cannot be returned, depending upon when the defendant is brought back to custody.

Senate Bill 445 (by Sen. John McCune and Rep. Cal Hobson) establishes the Oklahoma Prison Overcrowding Emergency Powers Act whereby the Governor and the Department of Corrections may declare a state of emergency in the state prisons if the prison system population exceeds 95% of capacity for 30 consecutive days. If the emergency is declared, certain inmates must be granted 60 days of emergency time credit. The act requires additional emergency time credits if the prison population is not sufficiently reduced.

Senate Bill 469 (by Sen. Bill Dawson and Rep. A. C. Holden) establishes the Governmental Tort Claims Act thereby adopting the doctrine of sovereign immunity for the State of Oklahoma. The act addresses, among other things, waiver of sovereign immunity, liability of the state, circumstances when the state shall not be liable, and procedures for indemnification.

HOUSE MEASURES

House Bill 1451 (by Rep. Steve Lewis and Sen. Rodger Randle), an omnibus appropriation measure, reduces by various percentages the Fiscal Year 1984 budgets of numerous state agencies, commissions and boards in an attempt to balance the state budget. This measure modifies state agency budgets, including those related to Legislature could comply with a constitutional requirement for a balanced state budget.

A decision of the Court of Appeals may be reviewed by the Supreme Court if a majority of Justices directs that certiorari be granted. The Supreme Court may, by order, recall a case that it had previously assigned to the Court of Appeals.

The Court of Appeals sits in four permanent divisions: Divisions 1 and 3, consisting of three judges per division, sit in Oklahoma City; Divisions 2 and 4, also consisting of three judges per division, sit in Tulsa. The court sits in continuous session and has statewide jurisdiction. The twelve judges are elected for six year terms on non-partisan ballots from the six congressional districts in the state. DISTRICT COURT

The District Court has unlimited original jurisdiction in all justiciable matters, such power to review administrative action as provided by statute, and power to issue writs, remedial or otherwise, necessary or proper to carry into effect its orders, judgments, or decrees. The court also hears trials de novo from the Municipal Courts not of record.

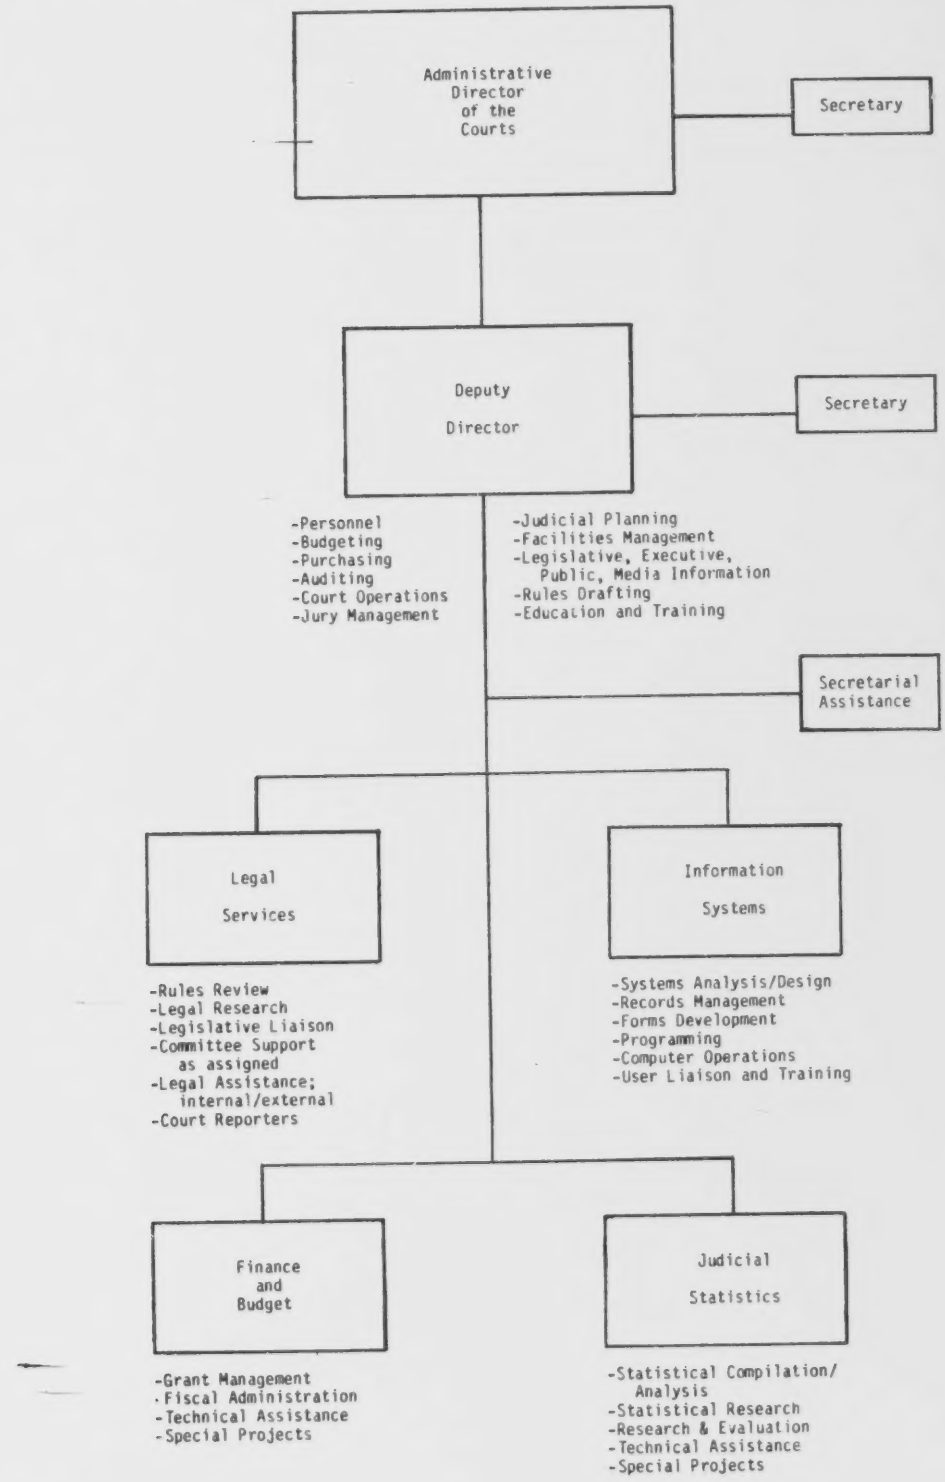
There are 26 District Court judicial districts that are divided into nine judicial administrative districts. In each of the nine judicial administrative districts, the district and associate district judges elect one of their district judges as the presiding judge. Subject to the authority of the Supreme Court, the presiding judges designate places for holding court and may provide for divisions of the court.

The District Courts consist of 71 district judges, 77 associate district judges, and 54 special judges. District and associate district judges serve four year terms. If a particular District Court has more than one district court judge, the presiding judge of that judicial administrative district designates one of them as chief judge of that court. The appointed chief judge serves at the pleasure of the presiding judge.

District Judges and Associate District Judges, of the District Court, are elected in non-partisan elections by the voters in their respective counties or districts. When a vacancy occurs in the office of district judge, the Governor appoints one of three persons nominated by the Judicial Nominating Commission. If the Governor fails to make the appointment within 60 days, the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court appoints one of the nominees. If a vacancy occurs in the office of associate district judge, the presiding judge of that judicial administrative district appoints a special judge to hold the vacant office until the vacancy is filled according to prescribed procedures. Special judges are appointed by and serve at the pleasure of the district judges.

District Court Clerks are county officers who are elected for four year terms. The Clerk of the District Court is responsible for keeping an appearance docket, a trial docket, a journal, a judgment docket, an execution docket, and such other books as may be ordered by the court or required by law. The clerk furnishes caseload statistical information and other information as requested by the Supreme Court and the Administrative Office of the Judiciary.

ADMINISTRATIVE OFFICE OF THE JUDICIARY



ADMINISTRATIVE OFFICE OF THE JUDICIARY

The Office of the Administrative Director of the Judiciary is authorized both by the Constitution and by statute. The Director is appointed by and serves at the pleasure of the Supreme Court to assist the Chief Justice in fulfilling his mandated responsibility as the head of Oklahoma's courts.

The Administrative Director and his staff provide assistance to the Judicial Nominating Commission, the Court on the Judiciary, and the Council on Judicial Complaints. They also prepare and submit annual reports to the legislature concerning the boundaries of district court judicial districts, the number of judges needed for each judicial district, caseload inventory data, and caseload/judge formulae.

The Administrative Director and his staff are also charged with the following:

- Collecting and compiling statistical data and other information on the judicial and financial operations of the courts and on the operations of other offices directly related to and serving the courts.

- Making reports concerning the overloading and under-utilization of particular trial courts.

- Making recommendations relating to the assignment of judges where courts are in need of assistance.

The Funding of the Oklahoma Court System

THE FUNDING OF THE OKLAHOMA COURT SYSTEM

The Oklahoma Court System is funded from tax-generated revenue that is appropriated by the Legislature and user-generated revenue which consists of fines, fees, and bond forfeitures collected by the 77 District Courts and the Clerk of the Appellate Court. The day-to-day operating expenses of the District Courts and approximately 44% of the salaries of the judges are derived from user-generated revenue. The remainer of costs for District Courts and the Supreme Court was funded from general revenue appropriations and the Workers' Compensation Administration Fund.

The total cost for the operation of the Judiciary in fiscal year 1984 was $39,691,049. User-generated revenue comprised 74% or $29,420,835 of the total funding for the courts. The remaining costs of $10,270,214 were funded by $6,270.214 in general revenue appropriations and $4,000,000 from the Workers' Compensation Administration Fund.

At the District Court level, the revenue received are used for the local operation of the District Court. These expenses are for items such as juror and witness costs, supplies, utilities for space occupied by the courts, attorney fees for indigent defense, bailiff and part-time court clerk employees, per diem court reporters, furniture, equipment purchase and equipment rentals. Additional expenses include payments required by statute to be paid to the Judicial Retirement System, Law Enforcement Training Fund and the County General Fund.

On a quarterly basis, each District Court Clerk files a report with the Administrative Office of the Courts that lists the expenses of the local district court and forwards the amount in excess of expenses for deposit in the State Judicial Fund. The fees received by the Clerk of the Appellate Court are deposited directly into the State Judicial Fund. Two other sources of monies for the State Judicial Fund are surplus funds transferred from the law libraries, and court reporter license fees.

The State Judicial Fund is a continuous fund and not subject to fiscal year limitations. However, an appropriation is made by the legislature from the State Judicial Fund for a portion of judges' salaries and travel expenses while on official business. Some direct costs are made from the State Judicial Fund and require no legislative appropriation. These costs are: jury trials where the local court fund is insolvent, costs related to criminal change of venue, attorney fees for indigent defendants charged with first degree murder, expenses related to the Council on Judicial Complaints, and expenses of the State Board of Examiners of Official Shorthand Reporters.

District Court Statistical Information

This section contains tables and accompanying charts depicting the caseload in 1983-84 of cases filed and disposed of in the district courts. The main classifications of case types illustrated are: general civil (contractual, tort, foreclosure, and negligence), domestic relations (divorce, reciprocal support, paternity and adoption), probate (administration of estates, determination of death, mental health, guardianship, and general probate), small claims (matters of controversy of $1,500.00 or less), criminal felony (D.U.I. and general felony), and misdemeanor cases. Included in the misdemeanor caseload are traffic, D.U.I., and general misdemeanor cases.

The data displayed in the following charts when compared to the previous years' reports may reflect a difference in totals from one report to another. The reason for this difference is that the method of reporting caseload statistics has been revised and some courts audited their previously reported caseloads to determine the accuracy of the case counts. After the audits were performed some adjustments were necessary in the caseloads reported. Several other courts have indicated that they need to perform a caseload audit in the near future. Therefore, the data reported in the ensuing reports will also contain adjusted figures.

The data is arranged in sequence by judicial district with each county caseload within the district displayed separately. An aggregate total for statewide caseload by category appears at the end of each set of charts.

District Court Caseload Trend Data

1979 - 1984

The following charts are graphic illustrations of the caseload changes in the district courts over the past five years. In the following paragraph, clarifications are made regarding the data displayed so that proper interpretation of the data can be made.

The reporting years of the data was changed in 1982, from a calendar year to a fiscal year basis. Therefore, for calendar year 1981, data were not included in compilation of trend data so as to eliminate duplication of data. The first fiscal year report (1982) considered data from the last six calendar months of 1981 in the totals.

When a comparison of caseloads are made from year to year, it will be found that the pending figures do not balance from year to year. This discrepancy is caused by adjustments from the caseloads due to original reporting errors.
